Youth Initiatives: encouraging active participation

Publication

Youth Initiatives helps young people to try out their own ideas, to devise their own projects and to carry them out in their own way and so to develop entrepreneurial skills. This fact-sheet presents some examples of the thousands of projects completed so far.

Working with young people: the value of youth work in the European Union

Study

This study highlights the diversity of youth work practice, the variety of actors involved, the observable trends in the sector, features of successful youth work and the range of outcomes associated with that success. Furthermore, it presents a comparative overview of the frameworks which support youth work at the national level across the EU. See also the case studies and the national reports.

Links between noise and air pollution and socioeconomic status

Air and noise pollution hurt everybody — but some are more affected than others. Poorer people generally have poorer health. Is it because they are more exposed to pollution? This in-depth report presents evidence on whether people in deprived areas are more affected by air and noise pollution — and suffer greater consequences — than wealthier populations.

Recent changes in Europe's MDMA/ecstasy market

In recent years, critical new developments have happened within Europe's MDMA/ecstasy market. There are signs of increased MDMA production and availability; the opening of new online markets, reports of increased use, the issuing of alerts on both high-dose MDMA tablets and adulterated tablets, and evidence of low but potentially rising numbers of MDMA-related hospital admissions, and even deaths in some countries. The trendspotter study has been investigating this.

EU à la carte?

Speeches from a seminar organised by the 'Jean Monnet activities' initiative in Malmö, Sweden. Will EU become an ever looser union? How to strengthen the fiscal and monetary union? Is multi-speed Europe the way for more Europe? Reconsidering integration after Brexit... and reflection on borders and defence, and also on the energy union.
